

Center for Linguistics, Nanzan University

Workshop on Mimetics II: New Approaches to Old Questions

Date: Saturday, November 11, 2017

Venue: L910, Nanzan University

Program:

- 9:15-9:30 Introduction: Mamoru Saito & Keiko Murasugi (Nanzan University)
- 9:30-10:15 Polly E. Szatrowski (University of Minnesota)
TBA
- 10:15-11:00 Emily Lake (Stanford University)
“Bringing social meaning into ideophone and iconicity research”
- 11:00-11:45 Arthur L. Thompson (University of Hong Kong)
“Etymologically epenthetic vowels in Japanese iconic forms”
- 13:00-13:45 Thomas Van Hoey (National Taiwan University)
“Chinese ideophones in historical corpora: A case study of mental space markers”
- 13:45-14:30 Kimi Akita (Nagoya University)
“The low iconicity of mimetics (with total reduplication) in Japanese”
- 14:45-15:30 Rebekah Baglini (Stanford University)
“Ideophones and the expressive dimension”
- 15:30-16:15 Keiko Murasugi (Nanzan University)
“Acquisition of mimetics: evidence for the root infinitives”
- 16:30-17:45 General discussion: Kimi Akita, William J. Herlofsky (Nagoya Gakuin University), & Mamoru Saito
- 17:45-18:00 Closing remarks

Organizers:

Keiko Murasugi (murasugi@nanzan-u.ac.jp)

Mamoru Saito

Kimi Akita (akita.kimi@nagoya-u.jp)