W: Can we leave now?

M: Wait. I'm not ready. Don't worry we won't be late. It's 2 hours before the movie starts.

W: I know, but the traffic into the city is always very heavy at this time of the evening.

M: Okay. I'll be ready in a minute.

Question: Why does the woman want to leave soon? The correct answer is C.

Now we will begin the test.

Listening 1

M: Hi, Kamala. Would you help me choose a suit to wear to my sister's wedding? I've no idea what to get. We could meet tomorrow at the menswear store next to the station.

W: Didn't you know? It closed last month. The best place to buy clothes now is the department store. You could get some shoes there as well.

M: That's a great idea. Let's get together in front of the north entrance at 11 o'clock tomorrow.

W: Okay. After we've finished, we could meet up with my sister and have a cup of coffee together in the café next door.

M: That'll be nice. I'll see you tomorrow.

49. Where will the man and woman meet to go shopping?

Listening 2

M: Do you have any other sweaters in the same style as the one I just tried on?

W: Yes we do. Is there a problem with the size?

M: No problem. I just don't like such a dark colour. It doesn't suit me. I'd like to try one in light blue, if you have it.

W: I'm sorry, but that is the only colour we have in that style. We have a light blue sweater in a different style, but it's quite a bit more expensive.

M: I see. Let me have a look at that one.

50. Why does the man not want the sweater that he tried on?

Listening 3

W: What on earth is that?

M: This? It's romanesco. It's related to broccoli and cauliflower.

W: How strange! I've never seen a vegetable like that before.

M: Cool, isn't it? Actually, it doesn't taste that unusual... but it's a good way to get the kids to eat a vegetable other than potatoes.

W: How do you cook it?

M: I steam it, then add some olive oil and garlic. They love it!

W: Your kids are way more adventurous than mine.

M: Not really. I'd like to put this in a curry, but the kids still won't eat anything too hot.

W: Well, I admire you for trying. Maybe I'll pick up some romanesco for tonight's dinner too.

51. What food will the man's children not eat?

Listening 4

W: Excuse me, Professor Le Tissier?

M: Oh, hello Frances. What can I help you with?

W: I'd like to hand in my report.

M: You're early, well done! But wait a minute... this is handwritten. All of the assignments must be typed, so I'm afraid I can't accept it like this.

W: Really? Sorry, I misunderstood. I have to go home now, but when is the final deadline?

M: It has to be in by one o'clock on Friday. I'll be in my office from nine o'clock.

W: I've got driving school on that morning, so I'm not sure if I can come in. Do I have to give it to you directly?

M: You can put it in my mailbox on Thursday once it's typed. Do you know where my mailbox is?

W: I'm sure I'll be able to find it.

52. Why can't the woman hand in her paper today?

Listening 5

W: I'm glad you suggested buying souvenirs at the train station. We can get everything here!

M: Yes, but we'd better be quick. Our train leaves in twenty minutes.

W: Okay, then how about these cakes for Dad?

M: He's on a diet, remember? Let's get this tea for him. The cakes do look tasty, so let's get those for Mum.

W: Alright. What about the people in your office? Shall we get another box of cakes for them?

M: Hmmm. These cookies are better. There are twenty in the box, so everyone can get at least one.

W: Okay, cookies for them. Now I just need something for Ricky.

M: How about this local fruit jam?

W: He'll enjoy that. I'll grab him a couple of jars.

53. What do they buy for their mother?

Listening 6

W: Okay, so you know how to get there, right?

M: Yes, Mom, got it. I take the A train to Central Station. From there I take the K-line bus.

W: Right, it goes all the way to Green Mall. So, which stop do you get off at?

M: Bridge Street, three stops before the end. Then I walk north two blocks and cross the bridge.

W: And then?

M: City Stadium will be to my right, about 300 meters along the river. I should be able to see it from the bridge.

W: Good, off you go.

54. What is the final stop for the K-line bus?

Listening 7

W: What time's your flight to New York on Saturday?

M: At 7 a.m., but I have to be there by 5 a.m.

W: That's early. That means you have to catch the first train in the morning. And you're really bad at getting up early

M: I know. But what else can I do?

W: You could stay at one of the hotels near the airport the night before. They're not too expensive, but it means you'll have to go there the night before.

M: Unfortunately, I have a late meeting on Friday so it'll be too late to catch the train or bus to the airport.

W: You could take a taxi after the meeting, but it'll cost you over one hundred dollars.

M: That's too much.

W: Normally I'd offer to drive you to the airport, but I'm going away for the weekend and won't be here.

M: Thank you, anyway. I guess that I'll just have to make sure that I wake up early.

55. How does the man plan to get to the airport?

Listening 8

Hello Mr. Lee, this is James from Jam Auto Shop calling with some information regarding your car repair. I know we told you that it would take until next week to get the part we ordered, but we got the part earlier than expected and I've just finished the repair. I'm afraid that we've closed for the day, but I wanted to let you know you can pick up your car anytime tomorrow.

56. What does Mr. Lee find out about his car?

Listening 9

The amount of lost cash turned over to police stations in Tokyo in 2018 increased by 2.4 percent to a record 3.8 billion yen. According to the Lost and Found Center of the Tokyo Metropolitan Police, only about 2.8 billion yen of that amount was returned to the rightful owners. Meanwhile, around 500 million yen of the amount that was not claimed went back to the people who found the money. The same amount was claimed by the government, the center said. The largest amount handed over at once was 25.4 million yen, which was found inside an old building that was about to be knocked down.

57. How much money was given to the people who found it?

Listening 10

M: Excuse me, I'm trying to get to Toyohashi. Which train should I take?

W: The next local train leaves at 10:50 and you'll arrive at 11:40.

M: Oh no! I have a meeting at 11:30. Isn't there anything that will get me there earlier?

W: Well, you can take the express train which will arrive there twenty-five minutes before the local train does. But the express leaves in 5 minutes, so you'll have to hurry to catch it.

M: Okay. Thanks. I can make it.

58. What time will the man arrive in Toyohashi?

W: Danny, it's your birthday soon. Have you thought about your present?

M: Actually, Mum, I have... I'd like to get a musical instrument. I want to join Jack's band.

W: You have a saxophone that you never play. Can't you use that?

M: Not really, it's not that kind of band. They need a drummer and a bass player. I really fancy learning to play drums, and then I could join the band.

W: Oh, dear... A set of drums would take up a lot of space. Where would we put them? Can't you get something more compact, like an electric bass or keyboard?

M: Perhaps you're right. A bass guitar's not so big and I could plug my headphones into it so I wouldn't bother anyone when I practice.

W: The neighbors would be grateful, that's for sure. Do you know how much one would cost?

M: I did look at some the other day. They start at 200 dollars, but I would rather get a good one. If I get the cheapest, I'll have to replace it soon, anyway. The one I really like is double the price of the cheapest.

W: How about this: your dad and I will give you 250 dollars for your birthday and you can pay the rest yourself? How much money do you have saved?

M: I only have 100 dollars now. Can you give me the other 50?

W: No. You can earn the rest by mowing the neighbors' lawns or washing their cars.

M: Fair enough, Mum. Thanks.

W: Good afternoon, sir. How can I help you?

M: Well, my daughter and I arrived here in Nagoya on a flight from Seoul, Korea about 45 minutes ago, and we still haven't received our luggage.

W: Oh, sorry. May I check your ticket please? Ah yes, I see that you left London on Friday afternoon on the flight to Seoul, then this morning you transferred to the flight to Nagoya.

M: Actually, we were originally going to fly directly from London to Osaka, but because of the typhoon, the airline cancelled that flight. That is why we had to fly to Nagoya by way of Seoul.

W: Yes, I see. That's what it says on our computer. I'm sorry. I can see that your luggage has been delayed in London, but it will arrive here tomorrow afternoon.

M: So, today is Saturday, right? Does that mean I have to come back here to the airport on Sunday?

W: Not at all, sir. We'll be glad to deliver it to you any time on Monday. Just fill in this form with your address and give me a few details relating to your luggage, and we will deliver it to you.

M: I suppose that will be all right.

W: Now, could you tell me about your luggage? Can you confirm how many pieces are there?

M: Four. There's one small, pink suitcase; a large, blue suitcase; a medium-sized, red suitcase with green, waterproof cover, and a large, grey rucksack. The case with the green cover is my daughter's and her name is on it, not mine.

W: I've got it. I'll arrange the delivery for you.

M: Thank you very much for your help.

W: Not at all.

You will hear a tour guide giving some information to listeners. Look at the five sentences below. Decide if each sentence is TRUE or FALSE. If it is TRUE, choose (A). If it is FALSE, choose (B).

Good morning, and thank you for joining the tour of the Happy Valley Apple Farm. We began growing apples here over 200 years ago, and our farm is the oldest and largest apple farm in this region. We also produce the second most apples of any farm in the country. How many? About a quarter of a million apples every year! We grow two types of apples here – crisp, green apples and soft, sweet, red apples. The crisp apples ripen in early fall, and we pick them in mid or late-September. The sweet apples take a bit more time to ripen, and we harvest them in early October. We put our apples in boxes and send them to local supermarkets all over the country. We also set some aside and make them into our famous Happy Valley apple juice, which we sell only here at the farm and online.

You will hear a woman called Mari talking to a man called Darren. Look at the six sentences below. Decide if each sentence is TRUE or FALSE. If it is TRUE, choose (A). If it is FALSE, choose (B).

Mari: Darren, have you thought about where we should take Mum for her birthday dinner? I'd like to take her somewhere nice.

Darren: What about that new steakhouse restaurant that just opened? The one near the bus station.

Mari: You're joking right? Have you seen the long lines outside that place? We'll never get a table.

Darren: Oh, yeah, you're probably right. Then, how about going to the Thai restaurant we went to for your high school graduation party?

Mari: That's a great idea! I didn't even consider that place. The food is tasty and the service is excellent. It isn't cheap, though.

Darren: That's okay. Thanks to your bonus, you can afford to pay for all of our meals.

Mari: Nice try. You and I will be splitting the bill 50-50. Do you think I should make a reservation?

Darren: I would. It seems to be popular and you want to go this Saturday, right?

Mari: Definitely. That is Mum's birthday, after all. I'll call and make a reservation for six of us. How does 7 pm sound?

Darren: Seven is perfect! I'll let Mom and Dad know.
